

Moreland & Other Stories by Frederick A Read

Advance Information

Readership

This is a collection of four novellas, where each novella is as different as the next:

“Moreland” is a tale of a boy who was punished for a double-rape and murder that he did not commit;

“Crow’s Nest” is about a young fisherman who goes off to War, only to find upon his return that his childhood sweetheart has betrayed him;

“Lucky Creek” is about two surveyors who discover a natural catastrophic phenomena; and,

“Going to By By’s” is a about a farmer’s boy who accidentally discovers an unknown, but significant battle, that was fought on his land during the Twelfth Century.

All of these tales lends some of the many ingredients that went into the writing of the author’s forthcoming epic series of novels, “The Adventures of John Grey” written in the style of C S Forrester’s Hornblower.
